Rule #1

Illegal parking at Foxglenn Park is a continuing problem for NACHS. Because of the limited parking available and because we are required by the City of Flagstaff to provide handicap parking along with our own parking permits for vendors and managers, all vehicles not displaying a proper parking pass for the weekend will be subject to being towed. Please be respectful of NACHS and others by arriving early, parking in the proper place and taking the shuttle to the front gate. If you need to drop off items you may ask the parking officers for a drop off pass. They will take down your license plate and note the time, and give you 20 minutes to drop your things. After that time, you must remove your car and return the pass as you leave. If your vehicle stays more than 20 minutes you will be subject to being towed. We appreciate your compliance with this as we have had to make more stringent rules because there are always people who think the rules do not apply to them.

Rule #2

Personal Liability Guarantee (Must be signed to complete your application) Foxglenn Park utilizes an extensive and expensive underground irrigation system. The use of stakes is limited to stakes no longer than 7 inches. We frequently experience gusty winds so you must weigh your tent down! Enforcement of this rule must be rigorously enforced by NACHS and the City of Flagstaff. Our continued use of City of Flagstaff property is dependent on adherence to this rule. Anyone (individual, group, organization, or similar) found using stakes longer than 7 inches long in their area during the festival will be fined $100.

Please sign and return with entry form:

I, as representative of (please PRINT) _____ agree that our participation at the Arizona Highland Celtic Festival will not utilize stakes in our set-up. I understand that if stakes are used, and discovered, I will be fined $100, payable before leaving the park.
